

Institutional Distinctiveness

Being a rural college, it is quite difficult to escape from the existential demand and subsequently it has been contributing for the upliftment of disadvantaged communities. The college tries to balance the imbalances in terms of education. For the people irrespective of their socio-economic background, it is the lone academic institution for higher education in Kampur. The College, since its inception, has been providing excessive attention to the disadvantaged communities and women in particular.

Women education is considered as one of the glaring areas need to be focused at present situation. Undoubtedly, Kampur college has substantial contribution in this regard. In every academic year, unlike others, the female students are outnumbering the male. Even the ratio is quite satisfactory and even more female students are encouraged to take admission in Kampur College. Besides, performance of female is better than that of male.

Another important initiative is that as per government rule and initiation of Kampur College, the admission fee is waived out for female students. It encourages more students to take admission to continue their education. The issue of women education particularly in rural setting linked with their family. In a tender age, large numbers of women get engaged and therefore it becomes quite difficult to fulfil their academic life. It is a double jeopardy for the women to continue education managing household activities. Noting their predicaments, the college has been considering such issues from the humanitarian ground. At present, a huge number of couples successfully completed their college education.

Furthermore, the institution is the second home for female students. The college is located in an isolated area and totally free from any form of disturbances. Even the college has been providing enough security at any cost.

Major contributions:

1. Providing enough security to the students and particularly female students.
2. Attendance of married women cum students is usually considered. A flexible approach is pertained towards the female student.
3. Admission fee waived for female students. It is a great relaxation for economically weak families.
4. A homely environment is ensured from the College end.

Such initiatives have enormous contribution for enhancing women education particularly in rural setting. Besides, women belonging to the marginalized communities are getting enough opportunities through this process.
